

Want a safer, more positive school culture?
You Have Options.

nonviolent crisis intervention
a CPI specialized offering

How do you respond to challenging student behaviors?

When a student is anxious, defensive, noncompliant, or even acting out, you and your staff have a choice. You have options as to how to respond. And as an educator, you need options that are proven to be effective in a variety of situations.

The Nonviolent Crisis Intervention[®] program empowers you with positive strategies for handling difficult situations. It is presented in a framework that empowers you and your staff to organize your thinking around crisis moments so that you respond appropriately, consistently, and safely. The program provides a solid foundation for helping your school build an effective crisis prevention and intervention training plan.

Nonviolent Crisis Intervention*[®] training is offered as a:

4 day INSTRUCTOR CERTIFICATION

Our Instructor Certification Program is the choice of most schools. This train-the-trainer program begins with the first two days of training (see below). On the third and fourth days, participants learn how to master the intervention skills and gain the confidence to teach the program to additional school staff. It's a cost-effective way to embed the core principles and philosophy into your school culture.

2 day COMPREHENSIVE WORKSHOP

Building on the skills learned on day one, day two focuses on safe physical intervention principles. These techniques are taught to be used as a last resort, when a student becomes an immediate danger to self or others.

1 day INTRODUCTORY SEMINAR

With an emphasis on early intervention, day one lays the foundation with nonphysical methods for preventing or managing disruptive behavior. Participants also learn and practice CPI's *Personal Safety Techniques*SM to safely remove themselves and others from a dangerous situation.

BEYOND THE BASICS. We also have training resources for school bus drivers, parents, and guardians. Additionally, anyone who becomes certified can add depth to their training experience by enhancing skills that support specific content. Our advanced offerings include courses that focus on:

- Autism Spectrum Disorders
- Enhancing Verbal Skills
- Trauma-Informed Care
- Applied Physical Training

Nonviolent Crisis Intervention® Training Delivery Options

There are three ways to get your staff trained in this program and begin building a safer, more positive school culture.

OPTION ONE: Bring the training to your school.

If you have a number of staff who need training, you can join the thousands of schools around the world that have taken advantage of our on-site training option. This is a cost-effective way to build a strong crisis prevention and intervention team. Just pick a date that's convenient for you, and we'll customize the program to your everyday work realities.

On-site training's benefits include:

- Scheduling at your convenience.
- Eliminating travel and lodging expenses.
- Tailoring the content to your needs.

"It was most beneficial . . . being able to be on site and have some flexibility regarding days offered."

OPTION TWO: Sponsor a program at your facility.

If you're interested in on-site training, consider sponsoring a program. With this arrangement, you host professionals from other organizations during a Nonviolent Crisis Intervention® program and take advantage of sponsorship benefits.

OPTION THREE: Attend a public program.

You can also register one or more of your staff for a regularly scheduled Nonviolent Crisis Intervention® training program. This training is offered more often and in more locations than any other program—more than 150 cities worldwide. Visit crisisprevention.com to find a program near you.
