

INNOVATIVE HEALTH EDUCATION

GHOSTED

“There are all kinds of ways to ‘ghost,’ to disconnect abruptly from each other, or from life. The play is called Ghosted because it is about the fear of losing someone – a friend, a partner, even a sense of self. Despite the fear of being ghosted, in this play the characters do the opposite, they commit to staying connected regardless of their fears.”

— playwright Trista Baldwin

Kaiser Permanente offers FREE mental health programs for your middle and high school!

A new digital, interactive, livestreamed mental health program adapted from our live theatre program!

Ghosted will help to support the physical and mental health of your students while we observe COVID-19 social distancing guidelines.

Target audience: (Grades 8-12)

Minimum size: TBD based on virtual capabilities

Duration: 40 minutes, plus 20 minutes for interactive discussion

Cost: Free to schools within Kaiser Permanente Colorado’s service area

To Schedule: Send an email to co-air@kp.org.

For More Info

kp.org/artsintegratedresources